

1989

1. Boyce, P., Hadzi-Pavlovic, D., Parker, G., Brodaty, H., Hickie, I., Mitchell, P., et al. (1989). Depressive type and state effects on personality measures. Acta Psychiatrica Scandinavica, 81, 197-200.
2. Boyce, P., & Parker, G. (1989). Development of a scale to measure interpersonal sensitivity. Australian & New Zealand Journal of Psychiatry, 23(3), 341-351.
3. Mitchell, P., & Beumont, P. (1989). Neuroendocrinology. In P. J. V. Beumont & R. Hampshire (Eds.), Textbook of Psychiatry (pp. 423-434). Sydney: Blackwell Scientific Publications.
4. Parker, G. (1989). Predicting improvement in non-endogenous depressive disorders. Paper presented at the Directions in Psychiatry.
5. Parker, G., Hadzi-Pavlovic, D., & Boyce, P. (1989). Endogenous depression as a construct: A quantitative analysis of the literature and a study of clinician judgements. Australian & New Zealand Journal of Psychiatry, 23(3), 357-368.
6. Tanner, S., & Ball, J. (1989). Beating the Blues. Sydney: Doubleday.
7. Wilhelm, K., & Parker, G. (1989). Is sex necessarily a risk factor to depression? Psychological Medicine, 19(2), 401-413.