

About Psychotic Depression

This is a very disturbing condition – people describe feeling black and empty, unable to think or feel. Suicidal thinking is related to the profound feeling of despair and feeling of self-punishment.

Symptoms of Psychotic Depression

Symptoms of psychotic depression can be summarized as:

- Observable severe depressed mood
- Severe social impairment
- Severe psychomotor disturbance (agitation, retardation, cognitive processing problems)
- Psychotic features such as: delusions, hallucinations.

If a patient is very agitated, assume psychosis. Those with psychotic depression usually don't recover on an antidepressant alone.

Diagnosis of Psychotic Depression

Psychotic features:	Consistent with mood (mood congruent) or mood incongruent. Delusions more common than hallucinations – 90% vs 10%
Pathological guilt:	Common in psychotic depression
Psychomotor disturbance:	Profound
Cognitive function:	Mild cognitive processing problems through to pseudo-dementia

Useful Questions

Some additional useful questions which can help to determine if a patient is suffering from psychotic depression include:

- Are you a good person? Do you feel guilty? Do you deserve to feel like this?
- Are you being punished ...or feel you are being punished for something you have done?
- Are you being watched... poisoned?
- Do you have voices telling you that you are bad ... or, deserve to be punished... or, should kill yourself / someone else?
- Do you have something physically wrong with you? Can you please explain your concerns to me? What evidence do you have?
