

TIME DOES NOT STOP - Robert N Stephenson

The ticking of the clock does not stop, nor does the passing of time.

Leave tomorrow where it belongs and start living your life from today.

Leave that moment in time that we seek to grasp, to hold and nurture in our hands,

to share,

to show of days that have passed.

It is a yesterday dream on today's time.

Try not to waste the hours, the minutes at hand, because we will never get the time again.

Don't live in tomorrows, where unsaid words and deeds dwell.

Tomorrows are only future yesterdays,

all are lost in time.

Don't sit and wait for the perfect moments, that mystical once-only chance,

for as we wait the time flies by.

One day, an end will meet all our tomorrows, leaving those special moments and chances with nowhere to go. Use your time well and do your kindness now, for the ticking of the clock does not stop, nor does the passing of time.